Thank you for choosing the Parent Child Assistance Program [PCAP].

Your PCAP site is called: _____

The ALBERTA PCAP COUNCIL is a group that gives support and guidance to PCAP sites in Alberta. The COUNCIL wants your permission to collect information about you and your experience with PCAP services.

SUMMARY

- The ALBERTA PCAP COUNCIL wants to collect my information. My information will allow PCAP services to help women around Alberta.
- Only group data is used for reporting and program evaluation– my name is NOT included.
- I have the choice to let my information be collected. I will not lose services if I do not participate. Once my answers are stored, they cannot be removed.

What should I know?

We want to see how PCAP can help participants in Alberta. When you start PCAP, staff will do an “intake interview” with you. Staff will ask questions about your life and your needs. During your three years in PCAP, your mentor will ask for updates on your life so they can help you with your goals and fill out questionnaires on your progress and the services you receive.

PCAP staff may enter your progress in PCAP in an “Outcomes Tracking Application”. The “Outcomes Tracking Application” is an online program that stores information. There are features to keep your information private. Only certain people can see your name with your answers (ex. your PCAP Mentor, the agency supervisor). The ALBERTA PCAP COUNCIL and people who help with the “Outcomes Tracking Application” may also see your information.

Your information will be part of group data. “Group data” is a lot of data put together from people who are in the same program as you. This group data helps PCAP sites in many ways. Your information is private when it is in group data.

Please remember: Staff might have to report your information if . . .

- 1) The courts and/or your parole/probation officer ask for your records.
- 2) You might hurt yourself.
- 3) You might hurt others.
- 4) A child is being abused or neglected.

What are the risks and benefits?

Risks: Some questions may be personal and they might upset you. Please let staff know if you feel bothered by the interview.

Benefits: Your answers will be part of group data. Group data is used for “program evaluation.” “Program evaluation” tells PCAP staff and their funders about the strengths and weaknesses in PCAP services. ### What else do I need to know?

All PCAP clients will be asked for updates in different areas in their lives. These help with your PCAP service. You can choose if this information is stored in the “Outcomes Tracking Application”. Your information will stay in the “Outcomes Tracking Application” even when you leave the PCAP program. You can ask staff to stop putting new information into the “Outcomes Tracking Application” at any time. You will still receive PCAP services.
